To whom it may concern,

My name is Neil Lee, and as the formal principal of Ms. Aria Jung who worked as an English teacher under my supervision for over a year, I am happy to write as a witness of Aria Jung's good moral character, because I am the one who knows about her well while she was in my academy.

First, Aria Jung was a devoted and hard worker. With her bright yet sophisticated characteristic, she was talented at leading her students to study seriously and make themselves better people. She also was willing to give her helping hand to students who couldn't catch up with her lessons before and after her shift. Later on, her students showed dramatic signs of progress in English and it naturally brought high satisfaction to their parents too. As a teacher, she was an exemplary conduct other teachers should emulate.

Second, she was a real people person. She usually gave a warm-hearted hug to students during a break when she talked with, face to face, wearing a stunning smile on her face. They were mesmerized by the air of warmth around her and it went for everyone else, including co-workers. All of the other teachers in my institute liked to talk with her. She seemed to know instinctively how to make others feel comfortable based on her deep consideration, as far as I was concerned.

For all the mentioned above, I declare that Ms. Aria Jung's good moral character as a witness. If you have any further questions with regard to her background or qualifications, please do not hesitate to email me at kbreads@daum.net.
